

Application practice

This section presents hands-on examples of development on the Pepper NAOqi 2.9 robot. Every developer can learn how to make a business application solution uniform, standard, and quickly available to customers.